You child will see a picture of a person. They will be asked to put the person in the red room if they think they are feeling bad and the blue room if they think they are feeling good.

To put the person in the room, your child should point to which room they think the person should go to and then click the room using the mouse.